With glazed eyes you embraced life
Never too proud but you never asked twice
I begged you please but still you went for fast highs
One ride forever you never came around twice

With the dazed mind you tried to survive
Didn't want to but the filth came alive
You waited in the rain for love without names
When was the last time you lived without shame

When was the last time
You ran into the night
When was the last time
In 1989

With glazed eyes she embraced life
Never again will I see her dance all night
She waved goodbye to this world full of bores
With a smile on her face she closed down all the doors

When was the last time
You ran into the night
When was the last time

When was the last time
You ran into the night
When was the last time
In 1989
When was the last time
You ran into the night
Nothing can hurt you
In 1989
