Seems like every time you try to walk into my life I feel the same
You're so cold and now you say you can't explain
But you're the one I want and now you say it's my fault anyway
As if you didn't know you break my heart each day.

And every time you leave me here,
A part of me goes too, and now I know.

You took my love and tore it apart
It was over before it could even start
I love everything about you
From the tip of your tongue
To the bottom of your jet black heart

I need you baby more than anything I've ever felt before
And when I tell you this feels like I hit the floor
I sit up all night thinking of a way to make you feel this way
There's nothing I can do, I see you walk away

And every time you leave me here,
A part of me goes too, I hope you know.

You took my love and tore it apart
It was over before it could even start
I love everything about you
From the tip of your tongue
To the bottom of your...

Jet black heart- you don't know that you are everything to me
That's something you can't see Jet black heart- you're the only one that's killing me inside
I need you to stay alive

And every time you leave me here,
A part of me goes too, and now you know.

And of your jet black heart
And of your jet black heart
And of your britt black heart
