You are not driving the car and it's going the wrong way

You're being stared at by a vacant looking man
You're having to struggle for leg room with a tall woman

And you're in no position to change things

Why don't you come back and live in the city?

Come and live in the city with me

Change the dirt under your fingernails

And see how happy we can be

When you hold out your hands I bet they're shaking

Do you still smoke enough for two?

The air that you breathe it's all fake there

Up here it's thick and strong

Why don't you come back and live in the city?

Come and live in the city with me

Change the dirt under your fingernails

And see how happy we can be
