Everytime I hear your name I feel your nails dig in my skin no one can know of your presence your every word still haunts my me

Chours

You were the one who fought away my fears and wiped away my tears you were the one who opened your door and said you loved me too I cant sense the change in you

I still her the words you said they scare me as they repeated once again screaming and yelling I've heard from my past

Chours

You were the one who fought away my fears and wiped away my tears you were the one who opened your door and said I love you I can't sense the cghange in you

It didnt have to be this way
You could have been a little better
I dont need you anymore
Now I'm gone
