Refrain: Been thinking it over but now I'm not so sure, is this what I4ve been looking for thought I was happy, but now I4m not so sure still I have to ask myself could this be what I4ve been looking for Every day I go to work, I pack my lunch and sip my tea what kind of life am I living I drive the car or take the bus, the underground in such a rush just wish this day was at end, than I get to work Oh the day 's begun and I do my best, but it seems it4s never enough, It used to be I'd stay there for hours but now it seems I'm first out the door

Refrain

In the evening I get home from work tired of all the fucking jerks i wanna spent some time with my man but he4s allways tired...has to do something else so I eat my dinner all by myself, he4s not the one who4s there when I4m lonely no he4s not the one who4s there when I call but he4s the one who tells me he loves me everyday I ask myself Is this what I4m looking for?

Refrain

Could this be what I4ve been looking for?
Could this be what I4ve been looking for?
Could this be what I4ve been looking for?

Fighting here and hunger there sometimes we act as if we don't care what kind of life are we living?
Struggle here I struggle there, maybe we should start to share realize we should be giving if this is not the life you thought you'd be living then maybe you should just think it over

Refrain

Is this the life I4ve been looking for?

Is this the life I4ve been looking for?

repeat
