

Brown Feather Sparrow "Someone Quite As Colorful"

Visit "Someone Quite As Colorful" on MotoLyrics.com

Something's different
We are all aware
Your world is changing and we hold our breath
You throw your ball back up into the air
We all watch you
You don't seem to care, no

Hear me charlotte
Won't you lighten your burden
Share the load
It's no wonder it hurts
Still I've never met someone quite as colorful

I guess I'll never really understand
Why your freedom doesn't seem to last
But when the voices come and fill your head
Please don't fight them on your own again, no

Let your guard down
Look around you now
There is no one left
Stand on your feet
Look me in the eye
There is no one left to judge you

Visit Brown Feather Sparrow page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.