

Buck & Deanne

"One Day There You Were"

Visit "One Day There You Were" on MotoLyrics.com

One day, there you were
Singing in Kelly's fathers band
I felt so bashful when I spied you
(But, finally, I understand).

Well it may sound crazy, but you're my dream come true.

Who needs Sleeping?
I'm in a land called permanent bliss.
I think The Beatles were right;
I want all the world to see
I believe in-a-love at first sight.

One day, there you were
Singing sweet and going with the flow.
Somehow, it all seemed so familiar;
A melody from many moons ago

CHORUS Repeat...

I sense no danger
You beautiful stranger,
I'll see you later Â–
If I could change one thing about you
There'd be no place to start or go.

SOLO - VERSE 1: Repeat... CHORUS: Repeat...

End Tags:

I'll need you when I'm sixty-four...
When Acker Bilk's clarinet re-minds-us-we-were
"Strangers on the Shore."
I think The Beatles were right;
I want all the world to see
I believe in-a-love at first sight.
I want all the world to see
I believe in-a-love at first sight.

Visit Buck & Deanne page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

