

Buck & Deanne

"The Nihilistic Cowboy"

Visit "The Nihilistic Cowboy" on MotoLyrics.com

Seems every time I get somewhere it's nowhere
And if nowhere's somewhere I've been everywhere
Every time I get somewhere it's the same ol'bill o'fare
I just don't see why I should even care.

Hard news and points of view
Do what you have to do
Turn the screw a peg or two,
Do as the Romans do.
It's one more castle in the air, one more grey pubic hair.
I just don't see why I should even care.

The people passing by me
They pass by trouble free
They sail the sea with their degree
They prune their money tree.
It's enough to make a preacher swear and grown men
beat the air
I just don't see why I should even care.

SOLO:

The answer, "Blowin In The Wind" was never hard to find.
It tumbles thru the daily grind, out of sight, out of mind...
It's in the book of common prayer and the latest Vanity
Fair
I just don't see why I should even care
I just don't see why I should even care
I just don't see why
I... Should even... Care.

Visit Buck & Deanne page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.