You stepped into your car, I never knew it'd be so far.
The longest drive of your life and I went home.
I know what you're thinking,
I know how you're feeling always.

All I want to know, did you think of me as you let go.
You were so alone and I went home.

Did you give a clue, I swear I never knew.
We talked of our tomorrow but you never came.
I knew what you're thinking,
I knew how you're feeling I'm so sure.

All I want to know, did it cross your mind what you'd Leave behind.
You were so alone and I went home.
And do you know, the thing that just won't lie,
You never said goodbye.
