

Byron

"Toast Proposal"

Visit "Toast Proposal" on MotoLyrics.com

To the day I met my very first lover,
To that song I wrote when it was all over,
To the time I wasn't able to tell lies no matter how Much it hurt..
That time is so far away...

To the lord I prayed as a kid in a corner,
To those scary dreams I had worrying my mother,
Still remember grandma telling stories 'bout that man
Who'd died alone,
The man I should never be...

To a place I left,
To all of my friends,
To the rose I gave to a girl one day,
To the moments I thought that I would go insane...

To a friend who thought eleven floors would kill him,
To the day he awoke surprised he was living -

Then I realized that here you stay as long as you have
To,
No more, no less...

To the day I went to bury my father,
And I figured out I wouldn't have another,
To the time he took my hand in his and told me "son,
You have to be Better than me" ...

To that place I left,
To all of my friends,
To the rose I gave to a girl one day,
To those moments I cried believing a lie,
To the jackals I met and I never betrayed...
To that child I prayed to be back one day,
To those feelings I lost with my fingers crossed,
To the moments I thought that I would go insane...

Visit Byron page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

