This pressing uncertainty,
Unstable: our chemistry.
Mere mortals, our fate we see.
Resisting, kicking, screaming
Consuming, on time we feed.
'Till nothing remains to bleed.

But we're still alive, alive...

We're willing, we're able but
We've broken our halos.
'Til darkness entombs us,
Will no one exhume us?

'Cause we're still alive, alive, alive.

And all that we've saved for
And all that we've prayed for is
Wasting, wasting away, away, away
