Do you ever stop and wonder where this road will take you
What's around the corner
Will it make or break you
Is this your destination
Or is it the start of something new

What will you accomplish
Which way will the wind blow
For every door that closes find an open window
And everyone is watching as you write the story of your life
Of your life

CHORUS

And you wont look back
'cause it feels so right
And no matter what it'll be alright
In the brightest day or the darkest night
You will find yourself in the story of, in the story of your

Will you do the choosing or be the lucky one that's chosen
Will you recognize the greatness in your smallest moments
And every step your taking, you'll write another chapter
In the story of your life

CHORUS

And you wont look back
Cause it feels so right
And no matter what it'll be alright
In the brightest day or the darkest night
You will find yourself in the story of, in the story of your

Everything you are
And everything you do
Anything you want it's right in front of you
It's right in front of you

BRIDGE

And if I turn left or if I go right
No matter what, I'll be alright
Standing in the shadows or the spotlight
Here I find myself
In the story of my life

CHORUS

And you wont look back
Cause it feels so right
And no matter what it'll be alright
In the brightest day or the darkest night
