You heard her say silver sings so well
Said it in a way that only broken hearts can tell!
There's little darkness hiding in the corner of their eye
Let's put now that bad light of mine!

Chorus:

She brings you all of her sweet and nothing
And a love so gentle and I lost the dreams
She seems even hard to go
Will ring like any other bell
So what's the matter?
Because silver sings so well!

Smoking, curled and high upon the breeze
All caught in the world of helicopter seeds
Some are bound for a lonely end of...
But they're never dancing just to please!

Chorus:

She brings you all of her sweet and nothing
And a love so gentle and I lost the dreams
She seems even hard to go
Will ring like any other bell
And what's the matter?
Because silver sings so well!

You heard her say silver sings so well!
