Tie a string around a heart to pull Watch his head sink like a bow Hand in his hat, call him the fool Cause that's the way we catch the tadpole now

Take note from the queen of the hive Who hides her love like it's what she don't know how To do unless it's keeping her alive
Cause they're all little boys, but you're a big girl now

Tell them all you don't want their time and what's yours
is not mine anyway
And love is just one more useless thing you don't need,
but you can't throw away
So spare me your love today

Something's wrong but they all claim to go with it Some fools believe some things have gotta change
But real love, real love, I just can't let go of it Now I'm the one who remains the same I remain the same, I remain the same, I remain the same

Tell them all you don't want their time and what's yours
is not mine anyway
And love is just one more useless thing you don't need,
but you can't throw away
So spare me your love today
Honey, spare me your love today

I want no part in this Leave my heart out of this Spare me your love today

Honey, I don't want your time and what's yours is not mine anyway
And love is just one more useless thing you don't need,
but you can't throw away
So spare me your love today
Honey, spare me your love today
