You can say that this world will never change
Write it off as though it's someone's to pay.
But I can tell you now you won't get too far,
Those thoughts leave tracks outlined with time broken hearts.

So it's morning, soon my brain will return
I wish it wouldn't cause I can't take the hurt.
I just can't sleep on this old bed that I've made,
The sheets are burning now the floors where I'll lay.

You know where I'm falling,
This is where I'm falling.
You know where I'm falling,
This is where I'm falling.
Cause I don't love you
No I don't love you at all.

Someday, somehow, some way we're all gonna
change,
It's part of what we do in acting our age.
So go, get up, get dressed, tell yourself this is it,
You've got to tell them you won't take no more shit.

You know where I'm falling,
This is where I'm falling.
You know where I'm falling,
This is where I'm falling.
Cause I don't love you
No I don't love you at all.

You know where I'm falling,
This is where I'm falling.
You know where I'm falling,
This is where I'm falling.
Cause I don't love you
No I don't love you at all.
