So turn this up

So checks the face for traces
And hopes no one could see she cry
Oh, but straits are black betrayed her
And feeling secrets where they try You'd better pull yourself together
He wasn't worth those time though eyes
But at 17, the age the drama queens at chase home coming kings
How could she really know that having days like these Are meant to make you stronger
Give your heart some armor
I'm on a little longer

As straits are black my... starting running down your face
And you're hiding from the world
Hoping that would go away
Just when you thought that you can never shake it tears
of gray
He will come and tell you it's okay
You're beautiful that way

Now she's growing older
Watching me go by alone
Oh, because the guy she's dated is there nothing more than rolling stones
Her friends get dressed in white
They found the love she's never know, never known, never known
At... when beauty queens take...
She trying to remember having days like this I meant to make you stronger gives a heart of armor
I'm a little longer

As straits are black my... starting running down your
face
And you're hiding from the world
Hoping that would go away
Just when you thought that you can never shake it tears
of gray

He will come and tell you it's okay
You're beautiful that way
