If you could see me here this way
Looking backwards from today
From today

A liars chair, a judgement throne
A billion mistakes become known
Become known

The day you died I lost my mind
The day you died I lost my strength
The day you died I lost everything

The day you died I lost my mind
The day you died I lost my strength
The day you died I lost everything

A new beginning from today?
If we could wash the pain away
If we could disarm with a smile
If we could ask was it worth while
A new beginning from today?
If we could wash the pain away
If we could turn the adverse tide
If we could touch eternal light

Moving along in a God given way
I remember you like yesterday
Like yesterday

Where am I going? Where have I been?
A road to hell - the concluding scene
Concluding scene

The day you died I lost my mind
The day you died I lost my strength
The day you died I lost everything

The day you died I lost my mind
The day you died I lost my strength
The day you died I lost everything
