might've spent
too long.
I might've tried too hard.
But you didn't feel the same,
promised your life away.
I look before I leap and that doesn't make us strong,
effects the long run.
This job was made for you, and I don't think I'll ever know,
I can't believe its true,
I've never seen this side of you.
Another night gone wrong,
the minutes last too long,
but no matter what I say, things just drag on this way,
to finally see you smile, well thats the one thing I can wait forever for.
