Don't spend your life making up your mind

Choose your way to bleed, eat, love, sleep and breathe Model a life that most resembles it Decades change your mind
Pack it in, resign
You've led a life that's most unfortunate

I'm not convinced this is who I am
But I can't waste this work put into my mistake I'm not convinced we're all meant to be One thing exclusively provides and calls to me

If I've learned anything
it's that we're blank to this date
If I've learned anything
it's that I don't need this pain
If I've learned anything
it's that conformity's the only shame we're all guilty of

If I've learned anything
it's that it's very hard to say
If I've learned anything
it's that they'll take it away
If I've learned anything
it's that we're making it up yet we say we're so into it

Don't waste your life making up your mind
I'm not convinced we're supposed to die
One chance. One try.
One turn to live this life

No where. No why.
No wrong. No right.
