Paul Young - You'd better run away

If you won't change
If you won't change you'd better run away
My so called sense of humour
You say it's just a rumour
You'd never see me laugh
When you two walk away
Why do you stick together
The coward and his feather
Can't do without the part
That's eating them away
Though it's easier said than done
I am not the only one
But I can't wait so run away
Run away and stay
I'm married to this fatal memory
And I can't wait so run away
Run away and stay
If you won't change
If you won't change you'd better run away
Goldiggers are united
You stand there undecided
Between my love and all that foreign currency
Don't want your party line
Don't wanna own or call you mine
Is there no answer but some painful surgery
Though it's easier said than done
I am not the only one
(Repeat chorus)
If you won't change
If you won't change you'd better run away
(You'd better run away)
(Repeat chorus)
If you won't change
If you won't change you'd better run away
