CHORUS

come on come on just relax whoa whoa take a breath come on come on it's okay you can forget yestderday man and our philosophies man and our psychologies seem to throw away need to throw away

everything gets in the way we're forced to give an apology and i can't seem to get it out of my head (my head)

i can feel the tension rising think think think
think think think
think think think
i---

yesterday is burned away you'll never ever earn your way you'll never understand you'll never understand today what's gone is gone, what's done is done we have to divide to become one I can't believe the things I said (my days go by so slow they're unforgettable) you're gonna break down today take a breath for tomorrow may not make its way to you so watch the heart in you my heart can't help but start to rot, rot at an early age as I think too much and lose the peace in all my rage yesterday's a memory

so throw it all away

you can forget about yesterday
