You slammed the door in my face
How do we get to this place?
Every time, you always close your mind

But in your code of silence
The truth is you're denying
Everything that doesn't fall in line

You believe in something
Even you don't understand

Well, I know, I know the tradition is
To follow, follow wherever you lead
I let go, you should know that I'm disappointed like you
So we both lose

You sheltered me my whole life
Made me look through your eyes
I was blind to the things that you were blind to

I danced with indecision
Cleared my blurry vision
I don't blame you but I wanted to remind you

I believe in something
That you'll never understand

Well, I know, I know the tradition is
To follow, follow wherever you lead
I let go, you should know that I'm disappointed like you
So we both lose

Thought you walked on water
They were only puddles
In the sand, in the sand

I know, I know the tradition is
To follow wherever you lead
I let go, you should know that I'm disappointed you

Well, I know, I know the tradition is
To follow, follow wherever you lead

I let go, you should know that I'm disappointed like you
So we both lose

Yeah, we both lose
So we both lose
Yeah, we both lose
