So with all these costly slips I make
Why did I tell you?
To save myself from shame
I know I should always stay quiet

But with all this strong advice you get
So eager to try
And then, the blackest shame
I should know better by now

So what am I doing
I'm trapped here in your arms
My deceitful heart has led me astray

So what am I doing
I'm trapped here in your arms
My deceitful heart has led me astray

Two broken cords, four vengeful men
Why did I tell you?
Sleep sound is all I want
But I hardly sleep at all now

So when you saw me coming with that greedy gaze
Trembling and unveiling
Dizzy plans of endless love
You should have walked away

So what am I doing
I'm trapped here in your arms
My deceitful heart has led me astray

So what am I doing
I'm trapped here in your arms
My deceitful heart has led me astray
