Lay low for a while
Lay low for some time
Because now
I haven't got a clue

Lay low for a while
Lay low for some time
Because now
Life is frightening, so are you

And if I ever feel better again
I will call, but you shouldn't hope too much Because now I'm wrestling myself again and the challenge is more than hard enough

Please give up your rights
Give up some of your rights
Because now
Well, the threat comes from above

Please give up your rights
Give up some of your rights
Because now
It might be the nearest passing by

And if we ever feel safe again
We will hear but please don't hope too much
Because now we're wrestling hell again
And the challenge is just more than hard enough

Don't let fear be your ally, don't let it be your guide
On your way back home
Go ahead, sign the paper
That says you will forgive everything, progress and so on

So he says, the local priest
So he says, the local priest

Well, he might just be right
Although he's pissing in his own bed

Every night
