one of us in here
better make it clear
about
what is happening
because a vacant stare
isn't going anywhere
and we're still gonna be floating in hazy air I just hope that you know that it's never gonna faze me dear when those rays of the sun appear as a funnel of glare I'll be ready for the final road to nowhere have no fear
of the sandman
when he comes for your body in the night baby
wipe those tears
from your pillow
when you know that I'm getting ready for my last flight this is only life
this is only once
this is only me
please believe in something greater than what you can see this disease
wont faze me
so don't ever make a martyr out of me my heart will beat
in your eardrums
even when I'm buried six feet deep

all of us will go through this some day it's coming
so please know that
all of us will go through this some day

have you ever felt what it's like to survive in the whites of the eyes of hell have you smelled
the scent of your flesh burning off of your body until all you hear

is screaming
from the bottom of the twisted bowels?
I'll be there
and there's nothing on this earth that is ever gonna help me out
kiss my mouth
and savor
the wonderful time that we shared stay with me
til the moment that my skin lets go and sets me free
