She's the snow queen
She knows the ways of ice
What they did to her in her young days
Wasn't often nice
With the sand run out before us
The seagulls are the chorus
All the sounds inside the roar
Must be so lonely
We must touch each other
In our blindness
I heard the seagulls say

She wears other people's clothes in magazines
Wears other people's images
That tell her what she's seen
My snow queen has no eyes
She will see me in her mind
All the things she's left behind
Must make her lonely
We must touch each other
In our blindness
I heard the seagulls say

The men who've used her spirit
They haven't loved her
The men who've used her body
They haven't loved her
My snow queen is not free
Touch her eyes and you will see
How it is that she can be so lonely
We must touch each other
In our blindness
I heard the seagulls say

It's the things we see
That make love hard
We make blessings and runaway miracles
In the dark
We must touch each other
In our blindness
I heard the seagulls say
