You were alight and I wouldn't look away
You said I was sky and caught me anyway
How could I ever know you burn all that you hold
Now sing to the walls, I've cared more

I want to go, I want to stay, I want your name
And I want nothing that you are
Not even when you're moving me
I want to talk, I want to sleep
Want to get up and wash the rest of you away
You never had me
Satellite

Maybe today I'll not wear you anymore
I'll fold you away, lay you down where you belong
Maybe you'll wake in time to break open a smile
Wide and wild as the hummer

I want to go, I want to stay, I want your name
And I want nothing that you are
Not even when you're moving me
I want to talk, I want to sleep
Want to get up and wash the rest of you away
You never had me
Satellite

Are you dancing tonight?
Are you burning as bright?
As the she-boy outside
The firefly

I want to go, I want to stay, I want your name
And I want nothing that you are
Not even when you're moving me
I want to talk, I want to sleep
Want to get up and wash the rest of you away
You never had, never had, never had me
(Satellite)
