Hey, we should crash the party on christmas eve hey, we should write our name on every wall we see hey, we should break our wallets at every bar hey, we could break the bed without broken hearts la la la la
and we could leave the lonely and lost to their lonesome hearts don't just stand there with your face in your hands don't just stand there clean up your broken glass!

hey, we should crash the party on new years eve hey, we should write our name on every wall we see
la la la la

don't just stand there like a ghost in my room don't just stand there with that same old t.v. set don't just stand there pointing out west and don't stand there telling me i'm nothing don't just stand there just tell me i'm something

don't just stand there i am something
