You are the sickness for which there is no cure
I'm trying to make sense of what's happening here
See my face in the pillow trying not to scream
My heart's in my ears and I'm listening

So tell me what happened to our innocent love
What ever happened check yes or no
Or notes under your desk
Or tossing pebbles at your window
What happened to the time when the guy would ask the girl
She'd say yes, put on your dress
We'll go dancing in your living room
So tell me what happened to our innocent love

Please give me a reason why this is all wrong
You're making a mess of such a beautiful song
You'll be a little straight
Your friends don't like what I say They'll take you down any way they can
You know so much better than this They'll try to change you
But I pray that in the end
Your heart'll shine through

So tell me what happened to our innocent love
What ever happened check yes or no
Or notes under your desk
Or tossing pebbles at your window
What happened to the time when the guy would ask the
girl
She'd say yes, put on your dress
We'll go dancing in your living room
So tell me what happened to our innocent love

What ever happened to the time with all the clubs and the parties
And we lay in the grass looking up at the stars Talking about how small we really are What ever happened to the girl of my dreams
Just laying in beneath the world, but now it seems We're just living for the moment

So tell me, tell me, just tell me
What ever happened check yes or no
Notes under your desk
Or tossing pebbles at your window
What happened to the time when the guy would ask the
girl
She'd say yes, girl put on that dress
What ever happened to check yes or no
Notes under your desk
Or tossing pebbles at your window
What happened to the time when the guy would ask the
girl
She'd say yes, put on that dress
Tell me what happened to our innocent love
