Truth be known: I care about my outcome
And Honestly, I care about yours too
So I don't want to sit and watch you give up
When there are greater things he's calling you to do

And I know it may be hard
To start anew, when all these things
Have knocked you from the start

You may not want his help
But these words he wrote, which gives up hope
To you, I'll always tell

To tell the truth: I understand your problems
I was trapped in that cave in just like you
Some people tried to tell me there's no way out
And I believed them until I heard the truth

And I know it may take long
To get to where you're going
Down this long and narrow road

You may get lost at times
But if you keep his word deep in your heart
The light will always shine

I love you
And I don't want to see you live this way anymore
He loves you
And doesn't want to see you live this way anymore
God loves you
And doesn't want to see you live this way anymore
