Wake up with the feeling that the whole world got you down

Pressure that keeps building got you dragging on the ground

Chaos keeps on losing in no answers to be found
For what you are feeling now

Danger that surrounds you it gets worse here everyday

Criminals In power want to take your rights away

Never hear your protest they won't have you have your say

Can't find a better way

But you don't try, sit there and whine

About your decline, I think it's pathetic sort of life you choose

Methods abused, solutions refused

Good for you but some day you will lose your life

Without even giving it a try

Depression's the only thing you'll find

Give it one chance before you die

Just got one day to get a life

Everyday procrastinate, you won't get very far

Listen to religion try and tell you who you are

Marionettes on TV sets parade across your screen

But you donna know what it all means

Think there is no point in trying to get up each day

When problems there to confound only speed your slow decay

Future's relegated to a bland pathetic waste cause

You can't find a better way

But you don't try, just sit there and whine

About your decline, I think it's pathetic sort of life you
choose

Methods abused, solutions refused

Good for you but some day you will lose your life

Without even giving it a try

Depression's the only thing you'll find
Give it one chance before you die
Just got one day to get a life

Know you'll never make it you don't even want to try
Waiting for the day when you can curl up and die
No one's gonna listen, the world's out to get you Blame anyone you want you get the life you choose

So when you gone get a clue?
No one's gone wait for you
Only you can make it all come true

A never-ending struggle but one day you'll see the light
May not think you'll make it don't give up without a fight
Stay fast to aspirations of what you think is right And fight on with all your might

About your decline, I think it's pathetic sort of life you
choose
Methods abused, solutions refused
Good for you but some day you will lose your life
