One day, you'll have to ask yourself
Am I doing what I want for someone else?
From that day forward you'll find that living right
You're better off when you answer to yourself

And when it's time to take a stance
Tune them out inside your brain
Everyone will tell you lies, they'll cheat then laugh
At your demise, tell me who's to blame?

Someday when you look back
And you take time in the back was I doing all I really could
That one step forward a better life wasn't all that hard Now that you're living like you know you should

And when it's time to take a stance
Tune them out inside your brain
Everyone will tell you lies, they'll cheat then laugh
At your demise, tell me who's to blame?

Well, I am a firm believer and so I'm reminded high achiever
Solid in my sense of worth and goals Philosophies are meant to trick you missionaries out to get you
Hell is full of cons and suckered souls

And when it's time to take a stance
Tune them out inside your brain
Everyone will tell you lies, they'll cheat then laugh
At your demise, tell me who's to blame?
Yeah, tell me who's to blame?
Yeah, tell me who's to blame?
Oh, tell me who's to blame?
