Eyes on this flesh the windows of my soul from these i look inside and see it all thorns in my heart and needles in my brain is pain infectious or is it from the core my fate is hiding in the dark or its my mind that steals the light

Heavy conscience on my shoulder cant hold on any longer cold ice now, darkness kill my pain

I asked my father why he passed me by he said i'm always here and watching you dont be afraid when you have lost your way follow the signs and they will be leading you why do i fear to leave the life when time has come to say goodbye

We are the ancient sages for whom the sign is shown forgotten ones from the realm of the unknown without a name or trace in death we sank and in the book of time our names are blank
