Small child with large innocent eyes,
He's unable to accuse or despise.
He's a child that's caught in between A whirlwind, unpredictable society.

He never questions or complains about his part in this hard life.
He just learns to be strong,
This child is not alone,
There are many who have to fight
To survive.

Everyday it's a fight to survive,

When he grows older,
there's a stand
he'll take.
In his constant search for peace in this world that we had made.

When is the last time
Have you hugged a child and wiped the tears from his pretty eyes?

The time is right
The time is now
To warm the heart
Of a lonely child.
