You may have broken my spirit but you haven't broken my motivation. As I Rise I will become stronger the labels you've given me will be there no Longer. I'm not perfect and neither are u. I'm a working progress so give Me some room. You say I'm never going to change you look at me like I'm Strange. But still I rise above the pain because life is not a tender game.
I may have lost my way but that ends today. Still I rise above the odds I Would have never thought that I would've gotten this far. It is by God Grace that I'm here today. This is the motto of a broken girl trying to Make it in a chaotic world, picking up the pieces of my shattered heart,
Trying not to go astray and it all starts today
