

Chikinki "The Rain"

Visit "The Rain" on MotoLyrics.com

Switch off your television screens!
Take a look at more sights to see!
There's a world outside with a mind of it's own.
The weather's unkind but so is your home.
Take your eyes away from the skies I'm scared.
Take your eyes away from the skies and what I'm Thinking of, and what I'm thinking of!
Switch off your television screens!
Take a look at more sights to see!
There's a world outside with a mind of it's own.
The weather's unkind but so is your home.
Take your eyes away from the skies I'm scared.
Take your eyes away from the skies and what I'm Thinking of, and what I'm thinking of!
I can't stop thinking about the rain.
I can't stop thinking about the rain.
Because the sun is now getting to my brain

And there's a loop that has turned and it's coming round
Again.
You've knocked upon my door.
You've let me know that you want letting in.
But you've been here before
But you didn't like the way I let you in.
I can't stop thinking about the rain.
I can't stop thinking about the rain.
Because the sun is now getting to my brain
And there's a loop that has turned and it's coming round
Again.
As night follows day, light will not stay.
As the charm turns to curse
I say this day this charm is going to bring the worst.
I can't stop thinking about the rain.
I can't stop thinking about the rain.
Because the sun is now getting to my brain
I can't stop thinking about the rain.

Visit Chikinki page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

