

Percy Shaw "This Sad"

Visit "This Sad" on MotoLyrics.com

I don't think I'd ever been so happy before.
You could always make me smile even if you had to use your hands.
I drove home that Friday writing these sad words,
looking at the heart on my antenna.
You're a star that fell out of the sky tonight.

I don't think I've ever been this attached before.
I rented one of your favorite movies,
and bought one of your favorite video games.
It's terribly depressing company.
It just feels so good to pretend your not so far away, so far away.

Love is a painful losing game,
and I just lost my heart again.

I don't think I've ever been this sad before.
You were my little cardboard angel,
that somehow flew away.
Now all I have left are some sandy memories,
a cd and the shirt you made me,
but all these things I have just make me miss
the only one I ever want.

Love is a painful losing game,
and I just lost my heart again.

Love is a painful losing game,
and I just lost my heart again.

Visit Percy Shaw page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.