Dance

Here's to a store
that never stays open we both came toward the light in the window your face between the glass and my eyes reflected a thousand times and what do you think when it all flows like water you came to the sink and drank from my hands oh it's not what you think but your lips on my fingers are far too much for me
so let's dance now
and let's stop pretending
we both care about
more than our skin touching
our love was fast
and flowers were blooming
it's still so strong
like the words to the wrong songs and keep still while I cut your hair talk is easy as breathing and I am wishing well as the curls fall on my toes that you'll make a home out of me

and we could call it all lazy like the feeling when we lie here I am listening to a middle 8 on the radio on a sunday playing songs gone out of style on your fm dial
but it don't matter
when the sentiment is right
