Well I don't think for pleasure It's just hard not to do My thinking is a measure of how much I need a clue

I'm still flying blind hoping I might find a way to stop my thinking and open up my mind

Well I don't see too clearly I wish you'd show me how if seeing is believing I believe I need It now

It comes as no surprise I can't analyze my usual refusal to open up my eyes

My feelings hurt me plenty not feeling hurts me more feeling's got me kneeling down wounded to the core

Not feeling's got its charms but you'll find out who it harms when your lover soon discovers you can't open up your arms

It's like being in a prison you lock yourself inside a limited perspective even with eyes open wide

But I can't walk no more through scenes I've seen before won't you come for me and bring the key and open up open up the door

It's just Love, and it's a puzzle of that there is no doubt can't do nothing with you you sure can't do without

Can't learn your part you won't know where to start 'till you quit all your questions and open up just open up your heart

One small suggestion quit your questions open up
