I know I'm a sinner
I ain't some beginner
I'm gonna uncork me a pint of trouble
Sit down and drink a double
I'm thirsty for something lighter
That could get me even tighter
And tighter until some day
I swear I hear angels play

Goodness is it really real
It would take a child to know the way I feel
Oh my, floating in the blue
I could take the credit but it's thanks to you

Well someday up in glory
I'll weep and tell my story
To someone who will smile and say
You're a mess but you're my child

Goodness is it really real
It would take a child to know the way I feel
Oh my, floatin' in the blue
I could take the credit but it's thanks to you

I'm thirsty for something lighter
that could get me even tighter
and tighter until some day
I swear I hear angels play

But someday up in glory
I'll weep and tell my story
To someone who will smile and say
You're a mess but you're my child

Goodness is it really real
It would take a child to know the way I feel
Oh my floatin' in the blue
I could take the credit but it's thanks to you
