Ho, the band stopped playing
And the couples stopped swaying
But we kept on dancing

The lights went on
And the crowd was gone
But we kept on dancing

The janitor said
Please let me sweep the floor
So, I hummed a tune and we
Danced right through the door

It started raining
But we both were insane
And we kept right on dancing

We looked a sight
By the traffic light
But we kept on dancing

The signal was red
So we just tapped our feet
When the light turned green
Well, we danced across the street

(Couples parked in cars
Were romancing)
They were romancing
But we kept right in dancing

Our clothes were dripping
And we couldn't help slipping
But we kept right in dancing

Our feet were sore
When we reached your door
But we kept on dancing

When I kissed you goodnight
My heart started dancing too

That's when I knew that I would Dance my whole life through
With only you

With only you
With only you
My whole life through
With only you
