"A Hatchet, A Hammer, A Bucket of Nails"

A hatchet, a hammer, a bucket of nails
an' all the wood I can find I'll build me a cabin on top of the hill got all the plans in my mind . . .

Where the tree tops talk to the wind
where the eagle flies
I'll bring her to see it the minute I'm through won't she light up with surprise!

A hatchet, a hammer, a bucket of nails
an' just my two hands, but with some help from above
The walls will start risin', the roof will go on the final touch will be love . . .

Where the tree tops talk to the wind
where the eagle flies
The preacher will bless us as we hurry to our happy home in the skies . . .

As soon as we're married,
we're movin' in to
our happy home in the skies . . .

(A hatchet, a hammer, a bucket of nails . . .)
Our happy home in the skies . . .
