"Hush Little Darlin'"

It's twilight on the prairie and the moon will soon be high she'll be hurting every star up in the sky we'll lope along to dreamland and we'll bid each care goodbye while the wind blows through the sagebrush with a sigh!

So hush (So, hush!) little darlin' shh little dear, go to sleep little darlin', I'm right here let my shoulder be your pillow, you'll be safe as you can be little darlin' you mean all the world to me we'll always be together and I promise faithfully that your dreams will all come true, just wait an' see

little dear, go to sleep little darlin', I'm right here (we will always be together) and I promise faithfully that your dreams will all come true, just you wait an' see

So hush, little darlin' shh little dear, go to sleep little darlin', I'm right here . . .
