Make love to live, let life make love to you
Make love to life and no matter what you do
Don't hold back and don't you try to hide
Make love to life, make love to life!

A babblin' hobo poet sang on the street one day
Some people stopped and smiled, some hurried on their way
But as for me, if it's free, Lord knows I'll sit through anything,
So I stopped and listened when the man began to sing

He said
Make love to live, let life make love to you
Make love to life and no matter what you do
Now, don't you hold back, don't you try to hide
Make love to life, make love to life!

And in a jingle jangle hassle that we come upon each day
It's nice to see somebody with something good to say
The music makes me feel good, the words come easily
Everybody join in and sing along with me

Make love to live, let life make love to you
Make love to life and no matter what you do
Don't you hold back and don't you try to hide
Make love to life, make love to life

Make love to live, let life make love to you
Make love to life

Make love to live, let life make love to you
Make love to life

Make love to live, let life make love to you
Make love to life
