The evening's hot it's summertime
Our footprints fill the path We're in our tent outside the breeze blows warm It's filling up my lungs

Stars will fall from the sky
But ours is too bright and big to do anything but shine
You can take your favorite picture
and put it on a wall
And when the season's over
we'll march into the fall

The glowing fire reveals the rushing stream
In the middle of the night
The crickets sings far across the field
The morning's on it's way
Stars will fall from the sky
But ours is too bright and big
to do anything but shine
You can take your favorite picture
and put it on a wall
And when the season's over

Stars will fall from the sky
But ours is too bright and big
to do anything but shine
You can take your favorite picture
and put it on a wall
And when the season's over
