She walks in to this world now, she's walking always close to me
She brings the sun within her, and she gives everything to me
She brings jewels and flowers, she smiles and devours
She is the poets dream
The poets dream

I stand within her circle, and her braids reach down to touch me
She has the moon behind her, and she gives everything to me
She brings jewels and flowers, she smiles and devours
She is the poets dream
The poets dream

The world doesn't speak your name now, but you stand and whisper it to me
You have the stars within you, and you give everything to me
She brings jewels and flowers, she smiles and devours
She is the poets dream
The poets dream
