Million things could make you wonder
Thousand thoughts come in like water on the wind
Just as I am swept up under

There is this hope in a glance
Promising more than just a chance

Say it's all right to have this moment and make it mine
Say you believe in everything I've ever wanted, in anything at all

Letting go can be so tough
But letting in can take a strength I just don't have Maybe I am just not ready

Watching the fall of the sand
Knowing you're more than just a man

Say it's all right to have this moment and make it mine
Say you believe in everything I've ever wanted, in anything at all
In all the things that I have ever dreamed, in anything at all

Watching the fall of the sand
Knowing your more than just a man

Say it's all right to have this moment and make it mine
Say you believe in everything I've ever wanted,
Say it's all right to have this moment and make it mine
Say you believe in everything I've ever wanted, in anything at all
