I want to part the red sea of brake lights and traffic cones
So we can be together, so we can be together alone

Tell me now have I passed my exit or have I yet to arrive
My driving has been so reckless, I'm surprised I still have my life
The cold wind blows, and I can see you in the rearview reminding me

Who I am,
Where I'm from,
What I used to call home,
I haven't been in so long. (x2)

I can see that my time is passing with the mile markers along the road Replaying scenes in my head and hearing words that you spoke
To me when you were upset
I don't want to be Something that you will regret
So tell me

Who I am,
Where I'm from,
What I used to call home,
I haven't been in so long. (x5)
