People they know when you're not getting it right, so they phone you and ask you to go out, people they know

People they know when you're in a bar and you don't have the slightest clue where you are, people they know People they know when you're been out, drinking and you're not in bed until five, so they phone you and ask you to come around

people they know, but what are they thinking?
what are they really thinking...

People they know when you've been walking around, wishing and to come across, the one you wanted to come across people they know when you're at home and you're dialing that number again just to hang up the phone once again

people they know, but what are they thinking?
what are they really thinking...
