Where have you gone tell me you'll wait for me
Is it getting late tell me the time baby
When you're gone I'm holding on
We are one but I feel so alone

What have you done tell me so I can see
Draw me the lines paint me the air you breathe
When you're gone I'm holding on
We are one but I feel so alone

Are you really out there tell me do you still care
Answer me now while I see the stars in the sky
Do you really want me to be real in your life
Answer me now

Summer has come and I walk on by the sea
The waves break and crash and remind me of you
You're where I wanna be
When you're gone I'm holding on
We are one but I feel so alone

Are you really out there tell me do you still care
Answer me now while I see the sun in the sky
Do you really want me to be real in your life
Just around the corner or somewhere under water
There'll be a place we can meet again in our minds
If you really want me to be real in your life

Send me the route to take I will make a break for it and I'll be there to hold you
What's in a million miles just to see the smile on my face I can't wait to show you
Are you really out there tell me do you still care
Answer me now while you see the love in my eyes
Do you really want me to be real in your, real in your, in your life

Just around the corner or somewhere under water
There'll be a place we can meet again in our minds
If you really want me to be real in your life
Answer me now, answer me now
